

Instructions for authors of FQMT'08 proceedings

Number of pages:

We ask you to write an article with minimum 4 pages in the Elsevier Physica E two column per page format. Maximum number of pages is 8 for speakers and 6 for posters.

In some exceptional cases exceptions from this rule will be possible with an agreement of editors of proceedings.

Format of articles:

Your article is supposed to be submitted in the double column format written either in the Word or in the LaTeX. This format quickly allows you to estimate how much space is still available.

a. when submitting in the Word:

if you submit your article in the Word, please, use the two column template provided by Elsevier (you will find it at FQMT08 www pages -Proceedings)

b. when submitting in the LaTeX:

please, use the Elsevier styles `physeauth.cls` and `elsart.cls` to produce your manuscript directly in the Elsevier format. When writing your article use the Elsevier style `physeauth.cls` within the head of the template LaTeX document. All these files, `physeauth.cls`, `elsart.cls` and the template, you will find them at FQMT08 www pages -Proceedings.

Figures:

please, put your figures directly in the text of your manuscript. Please, send us, however, also separate individual files with figures, tables and list of figure captions.

Color figures are not allowed for printed version, since they create extra costs. In very exceptional cases, they could be probably possible, but only with a special permission of the editors. However, in on-line version colors can be used, therefore authors are encouraged to submit even color figures supposing that these figures are clear enough even after conversion to gray scale.

Details of preparation of manuscripts:

Please, for details of shape of the first page, notation, formulas, tables, figures, and references follow Elsevier instructions for authors available at FQMT08 www pages -Proceedings.
